Work Nearing Completion

Forewords by Young-Key Kim-Renaud, William B. McCloy and Robert C. Provine.

Upon its completion, this multivolume bibliography will be published in both printed and electronic/digital versions by the University of Michigan Press (Ann Arbor, Michigan).

Comprehensive, multidisciplinary, descriptively annotated, subject classified and extensively indexed. bibliography of nearly 15,000 dissertations accepted by some 950 degree-awarding institutions in over forty countries that deal in their entirety or just in part with Korea, the Korean people, Korean emigrants and Korean oversea students. Encompasses dissertations in all fields of academic endeavor—not only in the humanities, the social and behavioral sciences, and education but also in the natural sciences, engineering, architecture, thology, law, library and information science, the health sciences and medicine. Includes 100-200 word long annotations (based primarily on a personal examination of the dissertation typescripts), the tables of contents of most of the dissertations, some indication of their availability, citations to nearly 10,000 published abstracts or summaries as well as to 2000 books published by the authors that are related to their dissertations, citations to over 2000 master's theses by the dissertation authors, most authors' years of birth, and the name of the senior faculty member who directed each dissertation. Copies of only 59% of the dissertations are currently available from ProQuest/UMI (formerly University Microfilms International) in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

OTHER BIBLIOGRAPHIES AND REFERENCE WORKS FOR ASIAN STUDIES

Editorship

_Bibliography of Asian Studies_ (Ann Arbor, Mich.: Association for Asian Studies, Inc.). This is the most extensive general bibliography of Western-language publications on East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia and, to a lesser extent, the overseas Asian communities throughout the world. In the form of a multidisciplinary online database since the mid-1990s, it currently contains nearly 940,000 entries (especially for publications in the humanities and the social sciences). More than 300 institutional libraries worldwide are among its subscribers through EBSCOHost.

Served as Assistant Editor for the 1970 and 1971 volumes, as a major contributor to the 1972 volume and as a minor contributor to the 1968 and 1969 volumes. Special Assistant and Bibliographical Consultant to the Editor for the 1988, 1989, 1990 and 1991 volumes (published during the early 1990s). Associate Editor from 1997 to the present, with particular responsibility for indexing and creating bibliographical records for journal articles and chapters in edited volumes on the countries and civilizations of East Asia and for publications concerned with Asia as a whole.
